HOGAN PERSONALITY INVENTORY

O V E R V I E W G U I D E

THE SCIENCE OF PERSONALITY

INTRODUCTION

The Hogan Personality Inventory (HPI) is a measure of normal personality and is used to predict job performance. The HPI is an ideal tool to help you strengthen your employee selection, leadership development, succession planning, and talent management processes.

The HPI was the first inventory of normal personality based on the Five-Factor Model and developed specifically for the business community. The HPI is a high-quality psychometric evaluation of the personality characteristics necessary for success in careers, relationships, education, and life. Whether you are implementing an organizational assessment process or enhancing your executives' development, the HPI reports can help you identify the fundamental factors that distinguish personalities and determine career success.

REPORTS & APPLICATIONS

Different characteristics are important for success in different jobs, and characteristics that are important in one job may interfere with performance in others.

The results of the Hogan Personality Inventory are obtained through a variety of report formats that range in terms of scope and complexity. The reports provide detailed HPI graphs and also provide the following information:

- Identifies how the candidate is likely to act in various circumstances
- Notes strengths and shortcomings
- Makes suggestions about how to manage the individual's career
- Pinpoints characteristics relevant for success in most work environments
- Identifies suitability for the position
- Notes interview style
- Provides a graphic report of the candidate's assessment results
- Summarizes the recommendation for job fit and potential hiring
- Classifies candidates as high fit, moderate fit, or low fit

ADMINISTRATION

The HPI is self-administered and may be taken individually or in a group setting, using either online computer administration or paper-and-pencil.

Hogan's state-of-the-art online assessment platform supports the administration of the inventories in multiple languages 24/7. Customers can log on to the Hogan site, access the HPI, complete the inventory online, and receive a report within seconds after completion. The process is fast, user friendly, and convenient.
