The Personal Report £42

The personal report covers Risk Type; a stable and persistent part of our decision-making, as well as Risk Attitude; a situational disposition towards risk influenced by personal experience and circumstances. This accounts for intra-individual differences as well as the deeply rooted temperament which is our Risk Type.

Risk Type Report £42

Based on a shorter assessment (the 82 questions of Part One only) this report focuses exclusively on Risk Type. Please note that this short form of the assessment cannot be used to generate any of the other Risk Type Compass reports.

Team Report

£295* plus £42* per person

A Team Report can be produced for up to 25 people. The team report can only be produced once a Personal Report has been generated for each member of the group*.

Risk Landscape

from £7,000

By mapping the location and prevalence of Risk Types within an organisation, Risk Type Compass enables risk propensity to be identified and managed. Tangibly viewing the Risk Type Landscape allows organisations to make decisions about the overall risk culture and the extent to which there are departmental or divisional differences.
