Section II – Summary of Assessment Results

Employment Fit — Overall Suitability for Work

Sample Candidate may be stressed by deadlines and concerned about improving performance. When frustrated or inconvenienced, he may seem emotional and not perform productively until the incident passes. Sample Candidate tends to be flexible, spontaneous, and comfortable with ambiguity. However, he may dislike tasks that require extensive planning and organizing, or that require a high level of detail-orientation. Sample Candidate may be interested in training and staying up to date. However, he may prefer to learn on the job rather than in a formal training situation.

Job Fit — Suitability for the Position

Mr. Candidate should be typically calm and composed and effectively handle most stressful work situations. He may sometimes worry excessively about possible mistakes or overreact in response to stressful situations. He will work well in either team-based or individual roles. Because he is quite willing to defer to others, he may be seen as lacking a strong sense of initiative. Sample Candidate will seem diplomatic, charming, warm, and friendly. He will develop and maintain effective relationships with colleagues and clients. However, his desire to avoid conflict may interfere with good business and personnel decisions. He seems to follow rules and avoid risks, but can also adapt to changing conditions and adjust to ambiguity. He will be moderately detail-oriented, organized, and will seem able efficiently to prioritize his work.

Candidate Strengths

- Will typically listen to others' suggestions and use their feedback to improve performance or business relationships
- Will strike a balance between staying calm and showing a sense of urgency
- Will not mind if promotional opportunities are not readily available
- Modest and self-effacing; willing to be a follower when necessary
- Will read social and political cues quickly and easily
- Will work hard in an effort to please everyone
- Seems able to be flexible while working within organizationally-accepted guidelines
- Seems conscientious but adaptable; should complete most tasks promptly but thoroughly

Candidate Areas of Concern

- May have difficulty deciding what to do during periods of heavy pressure

- May not step up and take initiative when necessary
- May tend to provide laissez faire leadership--not hold staff to appropriate standards
- May seem conflict-averse and have difficulty confronting staff when performance issues arise
- May have difficulty giving subordinates negative feedback
- May have trouble knowing when to stop gathering information and make a decision
- May be reluctant to act without clear guidelines

Organization Fit - Suitability for the Culture

He will prefer to work in an environment where he is able to make decisions, set goals for himself and others, and make a difference. He may become dissatisfied in jobs where there are few opportunities for personal success. Sample Candidate will prefer jobs and work environments where there are opportunities to stand out, where individual accomplishment will be recognized, and where he can take part in high visibility projects, large business opportunities, and chances to be successful. Sample Candidate is likely motivated to find ways to make money, both for himself and the organization. He probably is focused on bottom-line results, return on investment, and budgetary goals. Mr. Candidate will likely not enjoy work that requires careful attention to data and decision making based on research; he is an action-oriented and intuitive decision maker and will prefer a work environment that supports these tendencies.
